DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

2. Claims 1-25 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Boyle et al. (U.S. 6,537,294).

Note in figures 1, 2, and 4-7, a proximal strut assembly (34) connected to a distal strut assembly (32), wherein the distal strut assembly having an inlet opening which expands and conforms to the vessel wall and a filter member (36) attached thereon; wherein the proximal strut assembly (34) is adapted to be rotatably attached to an elongated member or guide wire (28); wherein the proximal and distal struts (32,34) includes a plurality of expandable struts (at between (32,34) See fig. 2)) and wherein the proximal strut (34) includes a pair of self-expanding struts (at 34) and wherein the struts (32,34) forming the proximal strut is made from a different material than the distal strut (32) wherein the distal strut includes filter (36) in fully assembly and further including coil wire (28) and obturator (46) attached to the distal strut (32).

Boyle et al is clearly teaches the method steps as claimed.
